

Being on the road as often as I am and using the weather and traffic channel has helped me know what to expect before I get there; WITHOUT having to channel surf through the stations to get the information. This seems like one more instance that someone who feels like they aren't getting their piece of the pie goes after someone else. Hopefully greed doesn't shine through our Constitutional Rights on this one.